"The only man who makes no mistakes is the man who never does anything."

THE STATE CAPITAL.

[Louisville Post.]

As citizens of the state, the people of Louisville desire to see erected at the capital public buildings for which there will be no necessity to make any apologies.

Louisville desires to have the state itself determine the location of the capital. A mere agitation for removal will accomplish no good; it simply delays a great public improvement.

There are very many reasons why, as an original proposition, the capital should be at Louisville.

But it is not an original proposition, and Frankfort has many claims to special consideration at this time. The fight was fought out in the constitutional convention, and was then considered closed once for all.

Lexington is a prosperous city, but Lexington has now two great public institutions, asking each year for more money, the university and the house of reform. Frankfort is neglected, and, waiting for the state to act, Frankfort has wasted her opportunities.

The bill which Wednesday passed the house means really an indefinite postponement of the whole matter. If there is to be a removal, we think the state would decide by a large majority for Louisville. But the wisdom of a removal has not been demonstrated, and we do not believe the wisdom of a removal to Lexington can be demonstrated. Louisville does not care to take any part in the agitation. Its doors are open, and it would donate Central Park and a million dollars if the state wished to fix the capital here. But it will with entire satisfaction see an appropriation of one or two millions for proper buildings at Frankfort.

The Commercial club's indorsement of Hon. Charles Reed for World's Fair commissioner from Kentucky, was one that meets with the general approval of the best men in the city. Mr. Reed is a gentleman whose long and honorable public service has eminently fitted him for such a place. He is widely known, extensively popular, and no one would make a more courtly, energetic or creditable representative. The place is one unsought by Mr. Reed, who is a gentleman of retiring disposition, and is one in which politics should not figure. It was not the intention of the meeting that indorsed Mr. Reed, which was entirely nonpartisan, to bring politics into it in any way, shape, or form. The indorsement of Mr. Reed was an unsolicited honor from the best men of Paducah who never once thought of politics, and it is safe to say that should he be chosen one of the commissioners, Paducah will be proud of him, and so will Kentucky.

In New York they do things right. Whenever an accident occurs that seems to have resulted from carelessness, somebody is held responsible. If they did that in other places, there would doubtless be fewer accidents. Indictments have just been found against the contractors and workmen at the Park Hill tunnel for manslaughter, as a result of the recent explosion. They were arrested and required to execute a heavy bond. No one would seriously believe, for a minute that the men knew the big storage of dynamite was going to explode, or that anyone wanted it to explode, yet the men, some perhaps far away, at the time, were put to the trouble of being arrested and having to execute bond and stand trial. Whatever the disadvantages of such proceedings, however, and no matter how unjust, it impels people with heavy responsibility resting on them to be more careful, and in this is a great benefit to communities where people easily become indifferent.

The fire in Paducah night before last demonstrates conclusively that too many dangerous huts and houses are allowed to remain in the business part of the city. The insurance rate in that locality in which it occurred was almost prohibitive, on account of the class of buildings there, and it is possible that owing to the blaze, which started in one of them, a conflagration, entailing a loss of a million dollars or more would have resulted in the heart of the wholesale section. It was bad enough as it was and should act as a warning. The fire chief and other city officials owe it to the public to see that all dilapidated buildings and other fire traps are condemned and torn down. They keep up insurance rates, and are a constant menace to every building in the locality.

The government is to award to her soldiers medals of honor in thirty-three cases, and a number of certificates of merit for services in Cuba, the Philippines and China. President Roosevelt, who is among those entitled to reward for distinguished services, was confronted with the unique dilemma of having to decline to ratify the award to himself, something no other president ever did. The country is aware of his splendid record, however, and the recognition will no doubt be made later.

Mr. Wynne, the legislator from our neighbor, Marshall, seems to be quite a humorist. He poked considerable fun at the state capitol recently, saying that the top of a ten rail fence was the sublimate altitude he had ever reached until he went to the legislature, and since then he has been debating whether he went up or down.

An expert engineer at Washington said before the Isthmian canal commission that the Panama canal route is shorter, but the Nicaraguan route more desirable from a sanitary standpoint. He thinks, however, that the Panama combines more advantages than the other.

Louisville seems to be the favorite place for a state capital, and it is likely that all the state papers will swing into line soon and shout for it.

The only thing that prevents Paducah getting the state capitol is her location. Otherwise we should have a walkover.

AGAINST THE AVOLON

SEVERAL SMALL CLAIMS FILED AGAINST THE BOAT—TRIALS TODAY.

There are six claims against the steamer Avalon to be settled this afternoon in the United States commissioner's court.

The boat arrived in the city yesterday and Deputy Marshal Saunders served the papers for six claims. The claim filed by Joe Robinson, for $8.75, was paid by the owners of the boat but this will not settle the case in court, as the court will have to receive a fee for drawing up the papers and hearing the case. The other claimants are: Marshal Nuckles, Jessie Chambers, Theodore Allen, Bud Bethshores, and Jerry Walston, all being claims for $1 as wages.

The cases will be tried in Commissioner Gardner's court this afternoon. Marshal Saunders will leave this afternoon for Mayfield, his home, to attend the bedside of his son, who is ill. He received a letter yesterday saying that his son was a little worse but not in a dangerous condition.

HAS DISAPPEARED.

TELEPHONE "TROUBLE" MAN MYSTERIOUSLY VANISHES UP THE ROAD.

Robert Yates, one of the employes of the East Tennessee Telephone company, has mysteriously disappeared. Yesterday morning early he was sent to Iron Ore Hill up the Illinois Central about Grand Rivers to do about an hour's work on the wires. The "trouble" was not repaired, and when the train came in last evening, and nothing was heard of him, an investigation was made, but Manager Joyner has succeeded in finding no trace of him after he left the depot at Iron Ore Hill. He boards at Ninth and Adams street.

FEEDS ONE—STARVES OTHER

Feeds the body—starves the microbes! That is what Scott's Emulsion does in consumption. We can't expect to understand all about these germs and microbes the doctors talk of. They say that one kind causes consumption. Consumption microbes feed on weak lungs. Perhaps that's so.

At any rate we know that Scott's Emulsion has a peculiar action on the lungs which gives the lungs new life and vigor. Healthy lungs starve the microbes out.

Life for the lungs and flesh for the body, that is what the consumptive has a right to expect from Scott's Emulsion. An ideal food and tonic for any form of wasting disease.

equal to the requirements of the play. The story relates the exploits of a very modest New Jersey youth during a day and a night in New York while in search of voices for the village choir.

"The Minister's Son" is the attraction at The Kentucky Thursday. This promises to be one of the banner attractions of the coming season. While the play and star are new to our theater-goers the eastern critics look upon W. B. Patton and "The Minister's Son" as one of their sterling attractions. His quaint and peculiar methods together with a fine stage presence have won for him the unstinted praise of the entire eastern country. The play itself is a pastoral comedy depicting the life and scenes as they actually exist in every day life.

To say that "Finnigan's Ball" is coming soon recalls to the average theater-goer pleasant recollections of cleverly eccentric comedians pretty girls and a wealth of song and dance. The "Ball" belongs to that class of theatrical entertainments called for lack of a better name farce comedy and whatever short-comings they possess they have at least one great advantage. The old "Finnigan's Ball" in its brand new guise will be seen at The Kentucky on next Saturday matinee and night.

Frank Pixley and Gustave Luders are the creators of the new comedy-opera "King Dodo" which is announced for an early presentation in this city. It is expected that the engagement already will be one of the most important of the year for the piece has already enjoyed a run of five months in Chicago and been accepted as a gratifying acquisition to the complete opera stage. The company numbers sixty people and a special orchestra.

Maria St. John for many seasons a member of Augustin Daly's company both in this country and London is portraying the role of Queen Lili in Pixley and Luders' immensely successful opera "King Dodo." Miss St. John scored quite a success in the original production of "The Geisha" in this country at Augustin Daly's theater, New York in the role of Lady Constance. She is the possessor of a remarkably clear soprano voice which suits the role she is enacting in "King Dodo" to a nicety.

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room" will soon be seen in Paducah. This story has ever been a favorite with the women and children, and they always go to see the performance, no matter what the grade of excellence may be. Popular prices will prevail.

Anticipating the arrival of Hoyt's "A Day and a Night" company it may not be amiss to announce that this season's production will surpass all previous presentations of this funny farce comedy. The most novel, intricate, bewitching music has been compiled by an eminent arranger. The songs fresh from the printer will be sung for the first time in public. "A Day and a Night" company comes to The Kentucky Tuesday night at popular prices.

The incidents and episodes in "The Minister's Son" are not so far removed from the ordinary. They might, and do, happen somewhere every day. But this does not detract from their charm; in fact, it lends an additional charm to an already beautiful love story. The characters are taken from every day life. They are real, attractive, and some of them lovable.

A deal was closed yesterday by wire for the appearance here Friday, matinee and night, February 28 of the New Orleans French Grand Opera Co., with its big ballet and full orchestra. The company numbers one hundred and fifty people and has been playing all winter in New Orleans.

Hon. Jere Porter, of Clinton, but formerly of Paducah, has announced himself as a candidate for president of the national T. P. A.

MARRIED IN BENTON. MR. CON CRAIG AND MISS MAGGIE CLARK MADE ONE YESTERDAY.

Miss Maggie Clark and Mr. Con Craig, well known young people of the city, went to Benton yesterday afternoon on the N. C. and St. L. passenger train and were united in marriage. Mrs. Jesse Card, a sister of the bride, accompanied them. The wedding was not an elopement.

The bride is a daughter of Captain W. C. Clark, representative in the legislature from this county, and is a most popular young lady, while Mr. Craig is a member of the firm of Craig and Leeper, of Jones street, the coal dealers. They have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

DIED OF PNEUMONIA. Mrs. Dora Philley, aged 55, died at her home near Coy, Marshall county, last evening from pneumonia, leaving a husband. She was a sister to Mrs. Nan Bailey, of the city, and an aunt of Mr. Bruce Philley, of Rehkopf's.

Roadmaster Pat Galvin returned to Louisville this morning, after a short business visit here.

A Grateful Mother

Wine of Cardui has done everything for me my heart could wish. I have been married five years and less than four years I have had four miscarriages. Fifteen months ago I began using Wine of Cardui. Now I have a fine baby girl seven weeks old. I wish I could write my thankfulness to you for your wonderful medicine.

Organic barrenness is exceptionally rare. There are few cases which would not yield readily to proper treatment, but disappointed wives too seldom take the course Mrs. Averette so happily chose. It was a severe test for Wine of Cardui to cure a woman who had suffered four disappointments in four years.

WINE OF CARDUI

is the medicine to stimulate the organs of motherhood to healthy action. The Wine relieved Mrs. Averette simply by reinforcing her weakened organs. To heal and strengthen the weakened organs of every wife who longs for a baby would bless thousands of homes with children. Every expectant mother should take Wine of Cardui to strengthen the female organs, then miscarriages will be impossible. For every kind of female disorder Wine of Cardui is the medicine to take. No medicine has done so much for the women of America. Ask your druggist for a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui if you are troubled with weakness.
